ASBURY PARK.

Asbury Park, N. J., Aug. 15.—The Wesley Lake Carnival, which took place Tuesday evening, was the chief event of the week at Asbury Park. The pageant was the largest in the nineteen-year history of the fete, there being nearly 200 boats in the line. From the foot bridges and the banks a storm of fireworks rained on the lake as as the line moved from the ocean end. On the Ocean Grove bank the festival chorus of 500 sang patriotic airs, while from the moving craits, crowled with summerites, came the strains of the banjo and the guitar. A committee of cottagers and hotel guests awarded several hundred dollars in prizes for the most novel and the most beautiful boat decorations.

Baby parade headquarters were opened on the board walk this week, and now registrations for the procession of the "light infantry" are coming in rapidly. Next week the Baby Parade Commission will formally invite President Roosevelt to review the procession of young America.

MACKINAC.

Mackinac Island, Mich., Aug. 14.—The weather has been so cold and rainy the past two weeks that one of our resorters has burst forth in a lament, which he has offered to The Republic. Here are a couple of stanzas of it:

And so it goes, day after day, The business men are mad; And all the nice hotel men Are looking glum and sad

The merchants cannot sell their wares, The rugs go for a song: The hackmen set out in the rain, And for the sunshine long.

And for the sunshine long.

But things have brightened within the past few days, so the remainder of the poem is withheld by consent.

GRAND HAVEN.

GRAND HAVEN.

Grand Haven, Mich., Aug. 14.—There are more St. Louis and Southern people at the Grand Haven and Spring Lake resorts than have ever visited the resorts before. Highland Park Hotel, the famous Cutler House, known throughout the South; the Spring Lake House, Prospect Point, the Willows, The Pines and many private houses are filled to overflowing. The cold weather seems to have had little effect on the resorters here, and, besides the many new ones, most of the old-timers have returned.

A water carnival was held on Spring Lake last week, which was participated in by hundreds of illuminated craft. Among the St. Louis craft entered in the carnival parade were launches owned by H. L. Robey and Alexander Krofter.

Phil Creager and family of Kansas City are in the city for a vacation. Mr. Creager is State editor of the Kansas City Star.

Mrs. John B. Strauch and son, Mrs. F. Schmid and Miss Belle Boyd of St. Louis have arrived at the Highland Park Hotel and the hotel.

APPEARS IN MISSOURI.

"Scables," Caused by Parasite, Un-known in This State Till Recently, Threatens Losses.

Columbia, Mo., Aug. 15 .- A new cattle discase has appeared in Missouri, and the danger of its becoming prevalent throughout the State has caused the Missouri State Board of Agriculture, of which George B. Ellis of Columbia, is secretary, to make an investigation, and it is prescribing remedies to farmers, whose stock is affected. celles to farmers, whose stock is affected.

The new discase is known scientifically as psoroptic scables, aithough it is known provincially by a number of different names. "range itch." 'mange." "scables" and "cattle lich." The cause of the disease is a very small parasite, so smail that it can hardly be seen by the naked eye, although it may be present in very large numbers on the affected cow. By use of the magnifying-glass it may be detected in large numbers. If a piece of the diseased skin is placed in a clean, thin bottle and kept in a warm place for a few nours, the small white mites will crawl out and can be seen by the naked eye.

after hatching, the young begin to eggs.

This disease was unknown in Missouri until a year ago, when a large number of range cattle were brought into the State and brought the disease with them, it is a remarkable fact that the scales do not attack cattle that are well fed, preferring those that have had poor pasturage and are very thin. In warm weather the parasite is not so prevalent as in coid weather.

THE SYMPTOMS.

The first symptoms noticed are intense

The first symptoms noticed are intense itching of the skin and shedding of the hair on infected areas. The symptoms are much more manifest in the winter and fall and increase in proportion to the number of parasites. Young and debilitated cattle suffer much more than older and fat cattle. When the itching sets in the animal begins by licking and biting itself, and later whi rub violently against any accessible object. The hair is rubbed off and the skin becomes thickened wrinkled, calloused and covered with a gummy exudate. The rubbing on rough objects, such as barbed-wire fences, is often so violent as to tear the skin and cause it to bleed. It takes so much time for the affected animal to scratch that it has little time left in which to eat, and this, with the constant worry and pain, causes a rapid loss of fieth. Nearly all of the hair may be rubbed off the body, leaving the snimal no protection against the cold. The loss by actual death from this disease, however, does not amount to so much as from the loss of condition.

THE CURE.

The directions given by the veterinarians of the State Board of Agriculture for the of the State Board of Agriculture for the cure of this disease is as follows:

"The treatment of scables consists in the application to the skin of the diseased animal of some preparation that will kill the parasite. The mite of scables is not hard to kill, and there are a number of remedies which are very efficient in the treatment of the disease. Creolin and chloronaphtholeum, which are coal-tar products, are both deadly to the parasite of scables and are harmless remedies. Either of these should be used in the strength of one part to twenty or twenty-five of water.

"Any patent sheep dip that will cure scab in sheep when applied according to directions for dipping sheep will cure the scables in cattle.

"Probably the most economic dip, and the one that is uniform and reliable in its results, is what is known as the lime-and-suiphur dip. Lims and sulphur are dissolved in water in different proportions, but the following formula is probablyshe best: Flowers of sulphur, twenty-one pounds; unslaked lime, stateen and three-quarters pounds; water, 100 gallons.

"Carefully weigh out the lime and sulphur, and do not guess at the weight of either. Use exactly twenty-one pounds of sulphur and sixteen and three-quarters of lime for each 100 gallons of dip needed. Slake the lime in a large kettle, and add enough water to make a paste. Sift the sulphur in this paste and mix thoroughly. Add twenty-five to thirty gallons of water and boil the mixture for two kours. Allow it to cool and settle over night, and draw off the liquid, being careful not to stir up the settlings. Add enough water to make 100 gallons."

INDIAN SUPERINTENDENTS ACCUSED BY SCIENTISTS.

Counter Charges Filed That Govern ment Employes Violated Orders to Discourage Savage Customs. Washington, Aug. 15.-Scientists and Inlian agents threaten to have a lively time bringing charges against each other in connection with the Indian dance in Oklahoma, Professor Dorsey and James Mooney, the two scientists who are said by Indian Superintendent Seger to have paid Cheyenne Indians to inflict torture upon themselves in a sun dance, say that they can prove Mr. Seger allowed Indians, who were under his charge, to dress up in savage toggery and parade on Fourth of July for the amusement of spectators attracted to the agency by posters scattered far and wide.

All persons connected with the Government Indian service are under orders to do everything in their power to discourage savage customs among the Indians, and the scientists allege that Superintendents White and Seger, the two men who have made the charges in connection with the sun dance, have been guilty repeatedly of violations of these orders.

Indian Commissioner Jones is hurrying the investigation of the charges against Professor Dorsey and Mr. Mooney as fast as possible. The testimony of persons who witnessed the recent Cheyenne dance in Oklahoma, and are said to know of the action of the scientists are expected in Washington in a few days. in a sun dance, say that they can prove Mr.

EVIDENCE OF FRAUD FOUND. New York Has Lost Nearly $1,000,-

000 Through Employes. New York, Aug. 15 .- Evidence of fraud, ! • by which the city has lost sums aggregatng almost $1,000,000, has been obtained by Water Commissioner Monroe. Three inspectors in the Water Department are under suspension. One probably will be called upon to face charges within a few days.

The facts disclosed, it is said, show gross carelessness, if nothing worse, on the part of many trusted employes of the Water Department. In some cases there is the strongest circumstantial evidence of collusion between consumers of water and employes of the department, whereby the forall the water they required in their business and on the payment of merely nomina! fees instead of the price fixed by ordinance.
